November 2013

Theme of the Month:
Giving Thanks

This month we will learn about what it means to be grateful. From the ordinary to the extraordinary, we have so much to be thankful for this year!

Children in Charge

When children are encouraged to make their own choices they are developing independence and are given a chance to be creative. Children need flexibility to do free art and should not be expected to follow an example. Art is about individual expression and not a pre-determined product. "Art allows children to develop their own creative expression, by being able to use materials in a process they control and make a product only they could have created. Art also gives the children an opportunity to show how they see things-to represent their ideas and interests for themselves and others" (ECERS-R, 2003).

Show and Tell

This month we will bring things for which we are thankful.
November 8th – a photo or drawing of a friend or family member
November 15th – favorite cuddly toy
November 22nd – a drawing or picture of your favorite food

Healthy Kids Corner

Sip Smarter

Soda and other sweet drinks (juice pouches, flavored water, and sports drinks) contain a lot of sugar and are high in calories. Offer water or fat-free milk when kids are thirsty.
